Global, connected and easy: K2 mounting systems are used in more than 130 countries

Our USA location will now operate under the name K2 Systems

K2 Systems continues to expand its growth with easy-to-assemble PV mounting systems that are driving the energy transition in more than 130 countries with an installed capacity of around 16 GW. "With our eight K2 locations and our strong network of over 120 partners, we support installers directly on site with high-quality, suitable mounting systems and ensure reliable project planning with K2 Base. Personal, fast and professional - that's K2," says Katharina David, Managing Director of K2 Systems.

With the turn of the year 2020/21, the company is also celebrating the global branding of K2 Systems, as the company name in the USA is being harmonised. Our US headquarters in California, founded in 2012, will now operate under the name K2 Systems and no longer Everest Solar Systems. Trademark restrictions had previously prevented this until now. "It's great that we have finally been able to register K2 Systems as a brand here in the USA. We have been developing great products together for over eight years, learning from each other and driving the expansion of renewable energies - we have always been part of the big K2 family," says Andrew Neshat, Managing Director K2 Systems LLC.
